New Sunday School Elective: Are you married? Please consider joining us for an elective Sunday School class (9:30am) called Love Talk. This five-week class focuses on the importance of communication within marriage. The class will meet in the library classroom beginning January 22 through February 19. Prayerfully consider making this investment in your marriage relationship.

Final Weeks for Kid's Kubbies: Thank you to all those that have been contributing to each of the children's bins. The children have appreciated it and I know some have made it a point to check every time they were here to see what would be in their bin.

The bins will stay out and on the shelves till the end of the month at that time we will take the bins down. We do not currently have another plan for them, but we are considering other opportunities for the children in our church to connect intergenerationally with others. Please feel free to make any final contributions to the bins, including maybe a note of encouragement if you would like to before the end of the month. Additionally, just because the bins go away doesn't mean that any bonds that have been built go away. Please continue to pray for, encourage, and connect with the children here at Ono! If you aren't sure how to do that, please ask me ways you can participate in the Children's Ministry.

~Jess Miller, Children's Director

Connection: God Heart
